

SUTEP GONLACHANVIT, MD

Professor of Medicine

Chief, Gastrointestinal Motility Research Unit, Division of Gastroenterology, Department of Medicine, Chulalongkorn University

Vice-President and Chair of Medical and Research Affairs, King Chulalongkorn Memorial Hospital, Thai Red Cross, Bangkok, Thailand

Professor Sutep Gonlachanvit is the chief of GI motility Research Unit, Chulalongkorn University, Bangkok, Thailand, a founder member and the immediate past President of the Asian Neurogastroenterology and Motility Association. He is also a founder member of the Thai Neurogastroenterology and Motility Society, a member of Rome Asian working team, a Member of the Permanent Scientific Committee of the World Organization for Specialized Studies on Disease of the Esophagus and an Associate Editor of the Journal of Neurogastroenterology and Motility.

His research area of interests include esophageal dysmotility, GERD, chronic constipation, effect of foods on gastrointestinal functions, IBS and GI problems in elderly.